Committee Structure and Organizational Chart

Committee Structure Philosophy

Any structure should be built using a strong, broad-based, and solid foundation. The current structure for NACAA is built on three foundation blocks that are the basic components of NACAA's professional enhancement areas: Program Recognition, Extension Development, and Professional Improvement. This committee structure is also set up to be flexible allowing for the addition or deletion of committees and/or programs that best meets the needs of the membership at any given time.

NACAA Councils and their associated committees provide opportunities for NACAA members to make regional and national presentations relative to their individual work experiences. This structure provides opportunities for NACAA members to develop and implement regional and even national programs within their discipline that will meet objectives and goals contained in their annual Plan of Work.

If a committee has a recommendation for a new program or a new award, the committee should draw up the recommended details including funding and submit it through their Council Chair to the Executive Program Council (EPC). The EPC members will determine under which committee and council that new program and award should be handled. This same procedure should be used if a committee is making a recommendation to drop a program or award. The EPC recommendation will then be made to the NACAA Board for final approval before the program or award is put into place.

It is important within the committee structure that ideas, proposals, plans, and funding sources are worked out within a committee, up through including their Council and Council Chair and the Executive Program Committee before being presented to the NACAA Board. This process will allow those in the front line and most familiar with the committee's objectives to develop programming that best meets the professional improvement needs of the NACAA membership. This mode of action will also help expedite requested action by the National Board by having the committee plan and work out the details of a proposal ahead of time, thus allowing the National Board more time to consider strategic planning and overall direction for the future of NACAA.

The committee structure for NACAA is a grass-roots structure, originating at the state level with state committee chairs. The state committee chairs facilitate the functioning of related programming at the state and provide programming input and support to the national committees through the regional vice-chairs. There is a regional vice-chair selected from each of the four NACAA regions on each committee to achieve this purpose. The regional vice-chairs form the national committee. Committee chairs are each assigned to an appropriate Council on which they serve under the leadership of the National Council Chair. The National Council Chairs and the National Vice President form the Executive Program Committee (EPC), which oversees this segment of the organization. More information is provided on each of these entities throughout this document.

The Extension Development Council (EDC) strives to enhance the professionalism of our members by providing opportunities for strengthening their leadership and educational delivery skills. One common thread among NACAA members is the fact that we are all Extension agents/educators. Therefore, it is imperative that our organization strengthen and continue to offer training in the process of how to become better extension professionals. This is the one area that effectively separates NACAA from other subject specific professional organizations. The sub-areas of the EDC are not to be subject matter specific, but rather cover broad, general extension related topics that focus on the following: Public Relations and Agricultural Issues, Early Career Development, Leadership and Administrative Skills, and Teaching and Educational Technologies. Each of these broad headings is addressed by a Committee.

Committees

Early Career Development

The Early Career Development Committee develops professional improvement education programs that will assist members who are early in their career to maximize and successfully complete their Extension education experiences. The Committee will also help train members in management positions, or those who are in other positions that might play a role in mentoring new professionals, to assist those who are new to Extension. This charge also includes the securing of resources to fund these activities and the responsibility to promote these activities to members. Professional improvement program ideas should come from the total NACAA membership to this committee through the various State Chairs. As ideas for professional improvement are brought to the Early Career Development Committee, it will be the responsibility of the committee to determine if the idea for professional improvement is feasible, and if so, then determine what course should be taken to offer this opportunity to members.

The Early Career Development Committee will coordinate with the host state of the AM/PIC on the first timers program and activities.

NACAA Expense Reimbursement for Council Chairs, Committee Chairs and Vice-Chairs

NACAA Committee Program Support Funds

Each Professional Improvement Council and Extension Development Council Committee shall be allowed up to $500 for program support for committee workshops and other educational opportunities at the AM/PIC. - Funds for program support are to be maintained in the NACAA treasury. It is the policy of NACAA not to account for revenue remaining on a committee basis at the completion of the fiscal year for monies maintained in the general fund.
- Committees should complete a budget request as part of the Annual Committee Workshop Report Form that is prepared during the AM/PIC Committee Meetings and submitted to the Council Chair. This information provides a Plan of Work for the committee. The information is also used by the Council Chair to report at the Post-AM/PIC Board Meeting of the committee's planned activities.
- In addition, a Committee Budget Report Form should be completed after each AM/PIC. The Committee Chairs should prepare an itemized accounting of their respective committee's income and expenses and provided to the NACAA Treasurer in the fall following the AM/PIC once all items of that committee are accounted for. All committees should note that submission of this budget sheet does not indicate approval of expenditure of funds. Therefore, during the year all requests for expenditures must be pre-approved by the NACAA President through Council Chairs and Vice President, prior to commitment of funds by committees.

The Council Chair will share the request with the Executive Program Committee (EPC) to determine whether or not the request has any consequences on the other Councils.

The Council Chair will then share the request with their Council. The Council will make a recommendation as to support or not support the request. The Council's recommendation and request will be forwarded to the NACAA Vice President who will present the request to the NACAA Board for approval or denial.
