TESTIMONIALS

ABBY DICKERSON

I am the first person in my family to get cows. The year I got my first heifer I attended PCC. When my 4-H project heifer went into labor, I could tell something was not right, because of what I learned at PCC I could tell there was a leg back on the calf. We were able to pull the calf and save it's life.

DWAIN & ANGIE SAPP

We were relatively new to owning cattle and had learned a lot for our personal farm, but what we learned at PCC has been the most beneficial for our business. Before PCC we had no idea how many gaps there were in the small selection of cattle supplies we carried or even what basic supplies we were missing. We now have a much larger selection of supplies to help local cattle farmers and we can confidently help new cattle owners with their needs with the knowledge we gained.

WILL & MICHELLE THOMPSON

We are long time business owners, but new to cattle. PCC set us up for success. But it was not only the skills we learned how to do, but the people we met. The network of people we made was invaluable. We believe in this program so much we funded a scholarship program that will fund scholarships for four kids be able to attend at no cost each year.

TESTIMONIALS

KEN CUMMINGS

We had a difficult first birth in our herd; it was stressful, but we knew what to do, and delivered a healthy heifer calf. I am not sure the outcome would have been as good without the learning experience we got from the PCC. I now have confidence to run cattle through the chute, take blood samples, put in ear tags, give injections and deliver calves - Thanks to PCC.

DUSTYN SWEENEY

I grew up in the cattle industry but am just getting started on my own. I attended the cattlemen's college a couple of years ago and it was a game changer. Now I know a good deal more about how to improve the efficiency and quality of my cow calf herd. I learned the ways that artificial insemination could greatly improve and expand the genetics in a herd as well as giving me the opportunity to be hand on in the operation myself.

TESTIMONIALS

MIKE BORBA

I'm a pretty cool guy, but this is the coolest thing I have every done. I am from California and always dreamed of owning my own cattle. When I retired and moved to Florida, attending PCC gave me the confidence I needed to purchase my own herd and make my dream happen!

LAJUANA MALLOY

I highly recommend anyone in the cattle business or anyone wanting to know more about the field of cattle operations to attend these courses. They are filled with valuable hands-on experiences which is the difference in these trainings and others offered that only “give” information to producers. These courses are actual “work in the field” and the experience to do so is what separates this course from some others I have attended. It was an enjoyable three days that allowed me to learn in a safe, non-threatening environment and allowed me to access firsthand knowledge that changed my practices as well as improved my skillset in my herd.
