

Introduction

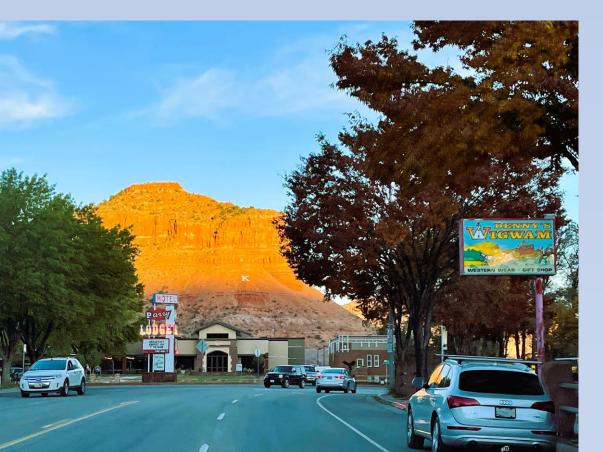

- The farmer's markets in Utah show the values of the Utah communities
- Many towns and cities in Utah have Farmer's Markets managed by the USI Extension service
- Previously, Kane county had multiple farmer's markets or seasonal outdoor markets organized by individuals or city offices
- Average number of vendors is 5 in the 2020 and 2021 season
- In September 2021, Kanab Farmer's Market was overseen by the Kane Co. Extension
- 2022 season has been managed by the Kane Co. Extension

Goal

- Supporting community with high-quality home-grown, home-processed, homeproduced produces and productions
- To promote tourist attractions and support local produce and business
